

Providing a locally grown produce subscription CSA for the greater St. Louis area from Lee Farms, LLC in Truxton, MO

About Lee Farms... Lee Farms, LLC is owned and operated by Rusty and Teresa Lee, along with our children, William, age 11 and Doralynn, age 8. We represent the 3rd and 4th generations to cultivate crops and raise livestock on our Warren County, MO farm, just west of St. Louis. We select the best varieties of vegetables for both regional growing conditions and fresh picked flavor. Our produce is carefully hand harvested to allow for peak quality, ripeness and taste. Our family is passionate about what we grow, how we grow it and making it available for your family.

What is a CSA?

Community Supported Agriculture:

Consumers pledge support to local farms by purchasing subscriptions directly from the farmer. In return you receive fresh locally-grown produce throughout the growing season.

Why participate in a CSA?

- Know how and where your food is grown. Members are invited to visit the farm and meet the Lee family (your farmers!) during the growing season.
- Receive fresh healthy food for your family each week.
- Because produce is picked just prior to delivery, flavor is at its peak.
- A wide variety of locally grown produce and easy to use recipes will liven up family meals.
- Support local Missouri farmers.
- Keep your food dollars in the local community.

At Lee Farms we are committed to growing the highest quality fresh produce using sustainable growing practices.

How does the Lee Farms CSA work?

Families or individuals buying a subscription pay 50% up front to reserve their produce. The remaining 50% is due by June 30th.

Then, once per week for 20 weeks from early June through mid-October a box of local produce is delivered to a conveniently located pick-up site for each family participating. Each member is allowed to skip one week over the 20 weeks and will receive a make-up box at the end of the season.
